

Teresa Update #9

Hi Family and Friends!

Today was a special day---Teresa was able to move her right arm at her elbow!!

This did not come easy for her...she has been working really hard in therapy, continuing with exercises and electrical stimulation to her right arm. The therapist explained that the larger muscle movements in the upper arm usually come back first, then the lower arm, and then the hand. It was very exciting to see that first movement!

She now has a short leg brace to keep her right ankle from turning when she walks with her "half walker" and is able to walk up and down 4 steps.

We are waiting to hear about possible discharge dates and possible Home Health care and therapy. Thank you SO much for your continued prayers!
